Warren Report Shown

Radio station WOR said yesterday it had received 2,760 telephone calls in response to Martha Deane's special program that presented a debate about the Warren Commission report on the assassination of President Kennedy.

The program ran for three hours and 42 minutes with no interruption for commercials. It will be repeated in full beginning at 11:15 P.M. Tuesday.

The four guests on the program were Louis Nizer, lawyer; Charles Roberts, White House correspondent for Newsweek magazine; Lep Sauvage, author of "The Oswald Affair," and Harold Weisberg, author of "Whitewash." The first two approved the Warren report and the latter two are critical of it.
